Citi Announces Robert Nakamura as Citi Country Officer & Banking Head for Japan

Tokyo – today Citi announced the appointment of Robert Nakamura as the Citi Country Officer (CCO) & Banking Head for Japan, effective July 1, 2024, subject to regulatory approvals. Robert will report to and succeed Marc Luet, who has been serving as the interim Country Officer and Banking Head for Japan since his appointment in May as Head of Japan, Asia North & Australia Cluster and Banking. Marc Luet will now focus on his expanded responsibilities in his new role and will be based in Hong Kong.

Robert will be responsible for Citi's operations in Japan, ensuring the continuation of Citi's commitment to delivering excellence to its clients and maintaining the highest standards of service and integrity. He will also be responsible for the delivery of the firm-wide transformation in Japan, fostering successful client relationships at all levels of the organization in addition to being the main regulatory representative for Citi in Japan.

Commenting on the appointment, Marc Luet said, "Japan continues to be an important market for Citi. I am confident that Robert's extensive experience and leadership will enable us to continue to provide exceptional support to and deliver the full value of Citi's network to our clients in Japan."

Robert brings over 30 years of experience in the financial services industry. He was most recently Japan Head of Markets and has also held senior leadership roles at Citi including Chief Operating Officer of Japan Markets and Securities Services, and Head of Japan Equity Derivatives. He joined Citibank N.A. Japan in Rates Derivatives in 1993.

Citi has been serving clients in Japan for more than 120 years. Citi provides corporations, governments, investors, and institutions with a broad range of financial products and services and employs around 1,400 people, making it one of the largest foreign banking employers in the market.
